I first met Dr Carlos A Raimundo more 10 years ago while I was working at LifeCare. Carlos ran a Play of Life workshop for me and my team and we were deeply impressed by the simplicity and efficacy of his technology and techniques. I have continued to use the Play of Life Kit and the Strategic Relationship Management techniques both professionally and personally and consider it to be an indispensable resource.

Recently, I invited Carlos over to the Interrelate Family Relationship Centre here in Caringbah where I am now Area Manager for Sydney South. Our centre was awarded a bonus for exceptional performance by the Attorney General's Department and given a bonus payment. I am hoping to use some of these additional funds, once approved, to engage Carlos and his staff at Active Learning Pty Ltd to train all my Relationship Specialists and Client Service Officers in the Play of Life methodology. Further I have made recommendation to Interrelate's Executive Management team to utilise Carlos and his staff in conducting training for all our clinicians at our Annual Staff Conference in February 2009.

The families we serve present us with many challenges including underdeveloped relational skills, poor self-esteem, mental impairment, and low levels of articulation. Having seen first hand, how well the Play of Life works in bypassing these issues to get to the crux of a problem, I am confident that the forthcoming series of workshops will greatly enhance my team's ability to serve our clients.

What Dr Raimundo created 20 years ago is one of the most powerful ways to help people clearly see where they are, where they want to go and so begin the process of transformation.

Yours sincerely
